InterWrap, the manufacturer of Titanium® and RhinoRoof® Synthetic Roofing Underlayments, is pleased to announce Goodfellow Inc. as a new distribution partner for Canada.

Goodfellow is the leader in the processing and distribution of wood products as well as the distribution of a wide range of flooring, siding and decking products. Goodfellow is diversifying in construction products and have regional centres strategically located across Canada which are well-suited to the distribution needs of InterWrap's roofing products.

As the demand increases for Titanium and RhinoRoof in Canada, it is vital to have an industry-respected distributor that can supply our products to the resellers and lumberyards. Goodfellow will be a great distribution partner as they will provide additional sales support to help expand the reach of our products. We look forward to working with them.
